TWO INTERESTING ARRIVALS
In New York from Europe yesterday, Helen Wills, spin-dle type of the California girl, who made Euro-pean tennis players respect America, and General Umberto Nobile, the able Italian who planned the dirigible "Norge," superintended the building, and then, as pilot, took the big air-boat with Americans and his crew over the North Pole.

OUR WISH concerning General Nobile is that he stay and work in this country, which would be honored by his pres-ence.

105 MORE JOIN N. Y. STRIKE

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—The subway strike, which the Inter-urban Rapid Transit Company an-nounced Tuesday was ended, when all strikers were crossed from the payroll, showed new signs of life today. At strikers' headquarters it was announced 105 men had walked out from the 74th street power-house and had thrown in their lot with the strike.

The 600 patrolmen who have been riding on the elevated trains along the strike were removed today. Chief Inspector Ladd announced that the patrolmen who have been stationed on platforms would remain. All vacations in the Police Department have been suspended until the strike is definitely ended.

FOUR BOYS RESCUED WHEN BOAT CAPSIZES

Four young men narrowly escaped being drowned, when the rowboat they were in capsized in the channel between Governors Island and the Airport at East Boston, today.

For half an hour they clung to the side of the overturned boat until their cries were heard by a tow boat which was proceeding from the navy yard and they were rescued.

They were Albert Andreano, 17, of No. 77 Butler avenue, East Boston, a copy boy employed by the Boston Evening American; and a brother of John Andreano, the waterfront boy; Jim Morrell, 18, of No. 23 Everett street, Chelsea, the 15-

Russ boat crews stepped with horror today when Carl Matthews, nineteen, of Corbet street, Dorchester, hurled himself from the platform into the path of an oncoming train at the Boston street subway station. The youth was picked up seriously injured after the first and second cars had passed over him. He was taken to the City Hospital.

YOUTH DIES OF LOCK JAW

Pawtucket, R. I., July 15 (A.P.).—Authorities at the Memorial Hospital reported the death of Anne James, 14, of Valley Falls, due to lockjaw, the second here since the Fourth of July celebration. The youth suffered burns on the palm of his right hand Monday, July 5, when the blank cartridge pistol back-fired. No ill effects were noted, however, until Tuesday night, when the boy lock-jawed to be hospitalized, where he died.

WILL FERUGSON ESCAPES IN TEXAS TRAIN WRECK

Temple, Tex., July 15 (A.P.).—Gov-ernor Miriam A. Ferguson escaped with a death blow from when she was arrested 45 miles from here today. William F. Ferguson of Cleburne was killed.

Warrants naming the doctor and his comely wife in the murder of the dismem-bered girl whose cut-up corpse was found by the wall of New Calvary Cemetery in Mat-tapan, were issued in Municipal Court by Superintendent of Police Michael E. Crowley and Captain John Driscoll.

While Superintendent Crowell, Captain Driscoll and Medical Examiner Timothy Leary were raiding Dr. Walsh's suite, other policemen were searching for another physician whose probable connection with the dissection of the girl was disclosed exclusively yesterday by the Boston Evening American.

Dr. Walsh, whose license to practice medicine is revoked three years ago, was also revealed today as a customer of Collins & Fairbanks, to whose store this newspaper led the investigators with the proof that the cardboard box used for disposal of some of her vital organs came from that concern.

The missing parts, which are believed by police to have been removed to hide vital pathological evidence, were found in a rubbish can in a rear corridor of the suite of offices, and the authorities say the discovery nearly completes the chain of evidence in the grim tragedy.

Dr. Walsh, now being hunted in every nook and corner of the city so that he may be brought face to face with the sorrowing sweetheart of Edith Greene, was implicated directly in the young man's confession. The youth is James Vincent Ford, 31, of No. 61 Telegraph street, South Boston, who was arraigned today as an accessory.

Ford, who was released under bail of $2,000, asserted he took the victim to the doctor's office to have an operation performed to prevent her from becoming a mother. Until a short time before the fateful operation the girl and youth had planned to marry.

A warrant charging Ford with being an accessory both before and after the fact of an illegal operation was obtained from Judge Bennett in Municipal Court by Patrolman George McCreary of the district attorney's staff, and on this complaint he was arraigned. The case was continued to August 5.

Hunting Dr. Walsh and his wife, the police learned today they were last seen on Washington street, between Northampton street and Massachusetts avenue, yesterday morning. The doctor's office was near the New Calvary Cemetery when the girl was cut up.

Police inspectors went out in force to track down the other physician. Continued on Page 15, Column 1.

Letters to Victim Breathe of Love

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE.

"Could I only take your hands, the same as you'll take my name, 'But it is only a beautiful picture, in a beautiful golden frame.'"

J. V. Ford.

In a tiny, green autograph book, on the very first page, Ford, now under arrest in the tragic death of pretty Edith Louise Greene, 18-year-old Mattapan murder victim, wrote the above lines as the expression of his love and sentimental ad-miration for the girl he hoped to marry.

The victim's home, Mrs. M. R. Stupp at No. 232 Warren street, Roxbury, an evidence.

Letters which told of Jimmy's fondling love for his "dear, darling Edith," and of the relation which had already existed between them, were found in the girl's room.

It was found by the police with other love letters, seven, and the memory of the dead girl, who was a member of the district court, and popular among those who visited her. They were removed from

The man is wearing a flight suit or uniform with a high collar and a tie. He is looking towards the right side of the frame. On the desk in front of him is a typewriter and a document. The background is dark and indistinct. The overall tone is positive and professional.

The slain girl, state ward, determined to make something of herself, studied the piano and was in training as a technician in the laboratory of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital. Of a sunny disposition, she made many friends.

A mother's spirit hovered near when Edith Louise Greene's corpse was buried into the road-side tomb near the gate of New Calvary Cemetery.

Not far from the spot where the girl's remains were found, her sweet heart recently had transferred to a honored grave the body of his mother. Whether she had rested, unmarked for years, was not marked and unknown in Potter's Field.

The knowledge that the girl's mother was buried in Calvary Cemetery was given out by her landlady, Mrs. Anna M. MacDonald, 115 Stanley street, Dorchester, who told whom the girl lived from June 3, until July 9.

Mrs. MacDonald in an interview revealing the girl's state of mind before she disappeared, her trouble

BATTLESHIPS LEAVE FOR SESQUI CENTENNIAL

Newport, R. I., July 15.—(A. P.) Battleships of the New York navy, on an annual cruise and with secretary of the Navy, sailed today for Philadelphia and the Sesqui-Centennial. The ships have been here about a week during which the midshipsmen received many attentions from the city authorities and the summer residents. Secretary Wilbur's stay was interrupted by his hurried trip to Lake Denmark, N. J., following the explosion in the naval ammunition depot.

"When she disappeared she left the key on the dresser.

"One morning she put green stockings on. They were like the color of this flower" (pointing to a flower picture that was a light green). She said that she bought the stockings to use when bathing for 49 cents. They were fine quality.

"She told me that she had been keeping company with Jimmy Ford for two years and that she had been stringing him along for that entire time. I think it was the thing

MAINTAINING HOPES FOR UNION OF CHURCHES

New York Bishop on Way to Europe to Work for Amalgamation

New York, July 15.—One religious creed in which Catholics and Protestants will worship together is the goal of religious leaders in America according to Bishop William T. Manning of the New York diocese of the Episcopal Church. He is on his way to Europe about the steaming Mercuria.

Bishop Manning will attend a meeting of the confederation committee at Bern, Switzerland, August 22 to 25 when the movement to unite Catholics and Protestants will be given impetus.

A "faith and order" world conference at Lausanne in August of 1927 is planned by the bishop meeting. Dr. Manning hopes will bring about the consolidation.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Frederick Cameron Church Is Stopping on Ranch in California

RANCHING IN CALIFORNIA IS THE Frederick Cameron Church, Jr., program before this interesting young couple (she was Muriel Vanderbilt) go to Newport for a portion of the summer. Just now the Churches are living the invigorating out-of-door life in the West Coast which so delights the former Miss Vanderbilt.

SHE AND MR. CHURCH will, for the first time since their marriage, set up a Newport establishment of their own. It's really not in Newport, but just outside the city in a section of high rolling lands and intensely cultivated "farm" of aristocratic ownership.

NEEDLESS TO SAY, Mrs. Church's place in Newport social life of future is an assured one, and as a young matron going back to the Summer Social Capital she'll be warmly welcomed. They plan to come East about August 1.

THOMAS POWERS, Newport's Beau Brummel extraordinary, is back once again in his old haunts. With apartments at the Muehlenberg-King and a wardrobe the very pink of sartorial perfection (of Piccadilly stamp) it may be surmised that Mr. Powers is his usual genial self.

HE IS JUST OVER from his country place in Connecticut, where he stays now and then in a social pilgrimage carrying him up and down the fashionable route—Washington, Palm Beach, Virginia Hot Springs and such. He declares that at least four pieces of absolute necessity to carry him through a year.

ROSEAN ROYALTY is comely representative in Newport of newest arrival in the Princess Stephanie Delgrouchy, now of Paris and lately of St. Petersburg when that city was a "Czarist stronghold."

THE PRINCESS STEPHANIE is at the Muehlenberg-King. Another titled visitor putting up at that hospitable old hostelry of established fame, the Count Marcell, has patent of nobility of Gredon obtain from the days when the "Glorious That Was Greece" existed under a royal monarch.

MR. AND MRS. JEROME NAPOLÉON BONAPARTE have moved to "The Bandbox" cottage, situated where Bellevue avenue and Mill street meet. They have been at the Muehlenberg-King.

THE JAMES DENISON RAY, YEN, in whom Boston is specially interested, Mrs. Sawyer was Ethel Cochran before she became Mrs. Howard Cushing, wife of the late painter is adding to Newport

MRS. J. NAPOLEON BONAPARTE
She cultivates the Newport social scene with her smart costumes. The Bonapartes have a villa named "The Bandbox."

SHINES with a series of matchless meals and dinners at "The Lelaps."

SPEAKING OF NEWPORTERS, and particularly the old-fashioned elite, Miss Helen V. Merrill was a visitor in Boston recently. As an old friend of the city, she was in the city of the old-fashioned elite.

RUMOR RAYS THAT one of Boston's most eligible bachelors, with family and fortune and a handsome home, is the attentive son of Miss Mitchell, whose engagement to a young Philadelphian was one of those brief affairs on which some made their mutual decision.

PLEASANTLY REMUNERATIVE. Mr. for the soldier's shop was the late recently engaged by Mrs. Curtis Gull at Nahant and patronized by the wife and mother of the smart little colony, to the tune of many dollars for the shop's money drawer.

MRS. GUILD entertained the volunteer sales force at informal luncheon—Mrs. Laval, the Princess Michael Camarone, Miss Lena Turnbull, Mrs. Winthrop T. Hodges and Mrs. Charles Boyce Butler.

LIKEWISE SUCCESSFUL was the Manchester sales sponsored by Mrs. Russell R. Cushman. Now the shop was filled with things beautiful and useful, to about to put it away throughout New England, making money steadily. Various resorts where the affluent leisure set gathers for its play time.

PRUDENCE REID IS BRIDE

Before the altar of the Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, Salem, fragrant with bright Summer blossoms, Miss Violet Prudence Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Alfred Reid of Boston street, having last evening pledged her marriage vows to Harry Douglas Tarkenton of Beverly.

Mr. Reid gave his daughter in marriage and the Rev. John L. Cairns was officiating clergyman. The bride, wearing a lovely costume of white satin and antique lace, with veil of tulle bound with orange blossoms, was attended by her sister, Miss Charlotte Reid, as maid of honor, and four bridesmaids, the Misses Frances Anderson, of Somerville; Evelyn Faye, Peabody; Frances Dodge, Salem, and Emma Trevelyan, of Beverly.

Miss Reid wore rose plus chiffon over a black tulle bodice. Two bridesmaids wore orange chiffon and two wore yellow chiffon. They carried tea roses. Little flower girls, the flower girl, wore a frock of blue rose yellow.

Dr. Douglas Newhall, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Stephen Siskney of Peabody, and Robert Reid, Lawrence Curtis, and Harold Delahoy, of Salem, and Leslie Baird of Lawrenceville; Evelyn Faye, Peabody; Frances Dodge, Salem, and Emma Trevelyan, of Beverly.

After a motor wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Tarkenton will make their bride and groom's home in the younger set, well known in the city, is a Normal School graduate, and in Peabody as Mrs. Tarkenton is a son of Dr. and Mrs. William Warner Day Tarkenton, of Beverly.

DESCENDANTS OF PATRIOTS HOLD SESQUICENTENARY

Declaration Re-Read on Spot in Worcester When Read in 1776

Worcester, July 15.—Picking out the exact spot where the Declaration of Independence was read here 150 years ago, descendants of Revolutionary heroes held their sesquicentenary celebration on the City Hall plaza.

The thousands viewing the impressive ceremonies were around to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the history of the copy of the Declaration read by Louis Thomas.

The celebration was opened by a stirring patriotic address delivered by former Mayor Rufus B. Hodge. He was then standing in what is believed to be the exact spot from which the Declaration of Independence was first read 150 years ago by John Thomas.

The organization which combined to make the affair a success were the Worcester Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, Timothy Hodge Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the Worcester Centennial.

BALM VERDICT ORDERED CUT

Bentleyville, Vt., July 15.—Judge John A. Shepley in Windham County Court at Swanton ordered the verdict of $5,000 recently awarded by a jury to Mrs. J. L. Hodge, a woman who sued Fred B. Howard, for breach of promise to marry, cut to half.

The action was taken following a motion filed by attorneys for Howard, who claimed the verdict was excessive, considering the financial condition of the man.

HARVARD GIVEN $200,000 BY GRAD'S WILL

Charles Downer, Sharon, Vt., Leaves Bulk of Estate to University

Sharon, Vt., July 15.—The late Alma Mater, Harvard University, Charles Downer bequeathed $200,000 of his $200,000 estate, Edward A. Davis, vice president of the Shawmut National Bank of Boston, is named executor of the will.

In addition to the generous bequest to Harvard, the town of Sharon receives $100,000 of which $75,000 is to be spent in any way the town desires, while the remaining quarter must be invested and accumulated.

Mr. Downer was a graduate of Harvard in 1879, a bachelor. He died in Baltimore, June 18. He was a member of the Vermont House of Representatives in 1924 and in 1925 was elected to the State Senate. In 1924 he was re-elected.

Several years ago Mr. Downer gave to the state of Vermont his ancestral home and land, containing 200 acres to be known as the Downer State Forest.

Come Out of the Kitchen!

Grandmother might have been shocked by such a suggestion, for she was "kitchen-minded" from necessity.

For some years, Swift & Company, however, has been working to relieve the modern housewife of continuous kitchen work. Now, in addition to the many less expensive cuts adaptable to steam pressure and fireless cooker preparation, the housewife has the service of cooked meats.

"Ready-to-serve" meats are now available everywhere, for Swift & Company's nationwide channels of distribution offer prompt and direct service to retailers.

These meats, in great variety and delightfully appetizing, have revolutionized the work of the housewife, especially during the hot summer months.

- Such products as:
- Swift's Premium Cooked Ham
 - Swift's Premium Mince Service
 - Swift's Premium Bologna
 - Swift's Baked Luncheon Loaf
 - Swift's Pimento Sandwich Meats
 - Swift's Sterling Delicacy

are available throughout the year. This is another feature of "Swift Service" — and a timely one of them will vary the monotony of ordinary meals.

There is a "ready-to-serve" meat for every taste — a score or more of meat delicacies for hot summer days.

I'LL PAY HER BURIAL COST! SOPS FORD

By HAROLD J. NICHOLS

"If I have my way, I will never go to Potter's Field. I will provide a good burial she ought to get," said James Vincent Ford, from his date and night to today that began last Sunday. James Vincent Ford, confined accessory in the death of Edith Louise Greene, pretty Calvary boy victim, made this declaration today at police headquarters.

The youth, decidedly boyish in appearance, well-dressed and with a voice firm despite his sorrow that was undoubtedly genuine, had just been photographed and fingerprinted.

He made a pitiful appearance in the fingerprint bureau, where he realized he was to be marked and catalogued with records of thousands of criminals.

He seemed perceptibly when the full impact of his being escorted downstairs came to him, but he appeared to rally when the ordeal was over and he was allowed to go to Potter's Field.

"I have lost twenty pounds since this terrible thing happened," he said. "I have heard police speak of a living hell, but I never expected to see and feel it myself."

VICTIM'S LIFE STORY IS BARED

By HAROLD J. NICHOLS

"Don't you know how Edith got into any trouble? Won't you tell me? My mother says she will let me keep from anything like the life I have."

So said Mrs. Catherine Caldwell Greene, mother of the dead girl, when she herself lay at the Boston City Hospital in the last stages of tuberculosis, according to Mrs. Camille Murray of Winchester, former employer of the woman.

Mrs. Murray told of Edith's birth and of the black days that found her mother as she waited for Edith's coming after her husband had deserted her.

The poor woman was working as an ironer in a laundry when I first met her. She had a small child, she told me, and she complained of being worn out.

"I needed someone to help me at the time, and I offered her the job," she told me. "She was very grateful for me for some time and seemed to be getting on her feet."

It was in May of 1921 that a sad thing happened. The lady—Edith—was coming to the house, Mrs. Greene waited, and waited, and the last she heard of him he had left this country and gone to Scotland."

It was a hard blow, but she went to the hospital heavily with her lungs. Edith was born in Scotland.

EDITH A 'GRL WHO NEVER HAD CHANGE'

A girl who "never had a chance" was Edith Louise Greene, Calvary boy victim, a girl who was imprisoned and imprisoned because she was a State ward.

Mrs. Mary Hobbs of No. 40 East seventh street, mother of Catherine Hobbs, lost friend of Edith, went out of sympathy for the dead girl today and characterized her as "a good girl."

The girl Catherine was in the same way on a vacation and does not yet know of her friend's death.

Edith was not a bad girl," declared Mrs. Hobbs, and said her little bit of life. "She was a good girl with her own independence."

"I think that Edith, such a dear, sweet, lovely girl, full of fun and home, came to such an end. There was no one to tell her to do this or to that. She was not like I. She was not what you would call a bad girl."

She once told me she was living on Columbia road and going to school with Catherine that she was given a bottle because she stayed out after 8 in the summer evening. I told her to have some recreation, but they were too hard and strict with her."

CAN SPILL A GIRL.
You may spill a girl by being too strict and not giving her enough love. They didn't allow her to grow her own independence."

"I think that Edith, such a dear, sweet, lovely girl, full of fun and home, came to such an end. There was no one to tell her to do this or to that. She was not like I. She was not what you would call a bad girl."

"The last I saw of Edith was when she came here in the Spring from the Psychopathic Hospital and told me how well she was getting along."

MISSING MOTHER LOVE.
Edith missed the love of a mother. She had no one to care for her. She was a little afraid of me when I started to motherize her and did not like me to tell her that way to her. She felt she was always being mothered, that she was always doing something wrong. But she was not. She was like every other girl."

AMERICAN CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS WELCOMED
Plymouth, England, July 13. — A cordial welcome was extended to nearly 20 Americans who arrived here on the Canadian for the World's Christian Endeavor convention which will be held in London. The Americans were greeted by a delegation of Church and City officials. Informal talks were exchanged in the Canadian's saloon, after which the Americans went to the ship's club where the British brethren and others of the welcoming party addressed them.

N. J. Bowker Dead
NORRISTON, Pa., N. Y., July 13. — N. J. Bowker, for many years general manager of the Pennsylvania-Carrier Paper Company, died here today. He was about sixty.

LETTERS BREATHING LOVE TO GIRL VICTIM
SEIZED IN ROXBURY HOUSE

tered in the otherwise uneventful life of the beautiful young ward and Boston Psychopathic Hospital employee, her love for the handsome shipper. He was the fulfillment of a longed-for life, to him she looked for comfort and consolation, for the advice and counsel which she so pitifully needed and didn't receive. KNOW OF LOVE

To Jimmy, Edith looked for her all. Him, she worshipped and placed on a pedestal. To her, his word was law. He was her man and she was his woman. Maybe not so tragically frank, but she belonged to him and some day she hoped they would be one.

So did Jimmy. He told her so. He wrote it. He told his friends. Everyone who knew Edith and knew Jimmy knew they were going to be mates.
"I stood in a beautiful mansion, surrounded by rich people. And gazed in a beautiful picture that hung in a frame of gold. To the beautiful life, I said, I married in and despair. If the life could only see, if the beautiful even traces were there in reality. Could I only take your hands, the time as you'll take my mine. But it is only a beautiful picture. A beautiful golden frame."
Signed, J. E. (Edith).
So wrote the intended husband of the girl.

BREATHES AFFECTION

And in a letter dated Sept. 24, 1925, the 21-year-old shipper again expressed himself. This was written on gilt-edged blue stationery.

No. 41 Telegraph Street, South Boston.

My dear darling Edith:

Well, dear how are you feeling now? I sincerely hope you are and the same predominant that you were in the last time we were together. Are you dear?

I've been talking to my boss about getting a penny in all my life and he knows how intensely interested I am in a certain young lady (Edith Louise Greene). I told him I wanted to save and he advised co-operative shares. I am planning to let him take so much a week out of my pay to save for me. What do you think dear?

Well, Edith dear, I can hardly keep my eyes open and so I will close now. I can hardly wait until

I see you next week, but I can get down to see you Wednesday.

With the same love that will live forever,

I am yours forever, (Signed) Jim.

HUB TO CHICAGO OPEN GALLATIN GATEWAY AUG. 1

The Boston & Albany Railroad, which will make the most important addition and change in its weekend train service since it introduced the Twentieth Century Limited in 1927.

Beginning on that date the Worcester, which for years has been a popular train from Boston to Chicago, will leave Boston every day at 11:15 p. m. and run through to Chicago as a solid train of Pullman cars, reaching that city at 11:15 p. m. on the following morning.

This makes the Worcester the fastest train running between the cities on which no extra fare is charged.

$10 Excursion to "MINUTE MAN" TRIP HISTORIC

An excursion to Niagara Falls over the "Minute Man" line, with a full day to enjoy the wonders of Niagara from the Canadian side. This is one of the finest of the reduced rate trips by train announced by the Boston & Maine Railroad.

The round trip fare in coaches has been cut to $10.

Leaving North Station at 8:30 a. m. (7:45 a. m. on the summer train) it reaches the Falls at 1:40 p. m.

Leaving Niagara Falls at 5 p. m. Sunday evening, the train will return to Boston early Monday morning.

CANADA LINE FINE TRIPS

An enjoyable and profitable vacation trip is offered by the Canadian Steamship Lines on the St. Lawrence River, from Niagara Falls to Montreal, Quebec and into the Saguenay River.

Embarking at Niagara Falls, Toronto, Rochester, Alexandria Bay or Clayton, the traveler enjoys a most picturesque trip, before reaching Montreal.

Quebec, a night's ride from Montreal, enveloped by its aura of romance, attracts many tourists every year.

DEDICATE TRAIN ON BURLINGTON

Impressive ceremonies attended the dedication of the new train on the Burlington Railroad, which will carry the new train service between the cities of Burlington and Montpelier, Vermont.

Furthermore, the present plan is to liquidate the company's assets now in a position to begin to realize profits at least equal to the present preferred stock dividend requirement.

The Federal government sees nothing wrong in the plans which will tie together in this organization producers of roughly 90 per cent. of the world's copper. A few matters of detail are being discussed.

"It's not right, you know. I'm pretty rotten at most games and things, but I enjoy them a deuce of a lot. You'd think I was rotten in America just because I'd be inefficient. You wouldn't catch me going in for any championships."

Among important American companies in the new organization will be Anaconda Copper Mining Co. and its affiliated organizations, Inspiration and Greene-Canaana, the Inspiration and Greene-Canaana subsidiary, Chile Copper, Phelps Dodge Corp., Kennecott Copper Co. and its subsidiaries, Utah
